

Habasit Green Statement and Environmental Policy

Respect for the Earth's limited resources, and awareness of the delicate balance between industry and nature, compels us to dedicate resources to environmentally centered objectives that lead to increasingly eco-friendly products, production processes and operations.

To ensure an integrated concept, the three fields mentioned above (products, production processes and operations) will be continuously improved through the use of long-term ecologically and economically coherent measures.

We will develop this approach further by ensuring that our products are durable, energy-saving, and easy to clean and service, while simultaneously providing top performance.

Habasit production processes are analyzed and continuously developed to achieve energy savings, to minimize waste and emissions, and to replace hazardous substances.

Our operations will be constantly optimized through open innovation processes and an environmental management system. This ensures compliance with all applicable environmental regulations.
